

Gallery visit report

I went to an art gallery in Park City the Terzian Gallery. It's a local gallery featuring local art work. I went Saturday July 15th. I looked online later to get better visuals on their website and better information regarding mediums.

1. Title of the Art piece

Reflection

2. Medium used to create the art work, and approximate size

Oil painting 36inches

3. Name of the artist

Deborah Brinkerknock

4. An evaluation of the art and design of the piece

The art piece seems to depict a young women on watery road viewing her reflection. I think the art is trying to symbolize a young woman facing adulthood. I think that because her attire seems formal.

4. An evaluation of the art and design of the piece

I was not too sure to feel about the art. The colors are beautiful and it blends. The piece make me sad and I feel like the piece what made with some gloominess.

To be of use by Zachary Proctor 24x30 oil painting

This painting really spoke to me. First off, this painting is spectacular. I feel like the artist must have had some inspiration from his life. I see a hardworking man trying to keep his purpose. As we age we want to be useful.

Vulnerability Zachary Proctor oil painting 30 x 40

This artist really got my attention. This piece was sold I'm glad I was able to find it a photo of it on the website. The man I feel like in a dream state admiring this woman.

Trickling Doug Braithwaite oil painting 10 x 8

This piece make me feel like it's a disaster piece. Cement is breaking and nature is coming through.
